

Graphic Design Request

Books Unbound: We provide informal learning opportunities for marginalized communities (see video here). Our first project is a Rohingya-specific Picture Dictionary for the Rohingya community in Kutupalong, Bangladesh. Our plan is to expand to different communities using the same picture dictionary model.

Project: Expand the original Picture Dictionary to be used for new project (with different pictures and languages) by using Adobe InDesign.

I'm designing multiple versions of this book for different languages. Each version has different pictures and different descriptions.

I want a template to be created for each category that can interchange the pictures / descriptions easily by using Data Merge tools. The Data Merge utility will easily import content to the corresponding placeholders in the template. Since all the pages are unique by design, I need a template with placeholders for each page.

Task: To design a set of templates for the pages in the book that I can use for creating new versions of Picture Dictionary

Explanation:

I created a 44 page Picture Dictionary that is specific to the Rohingya people. Each page was uniquely designed, so I couldn't use a template.

Picture used → Rohingya cartoons

Language used → English & Burmese language

Topics → 7 topics

What I Want:

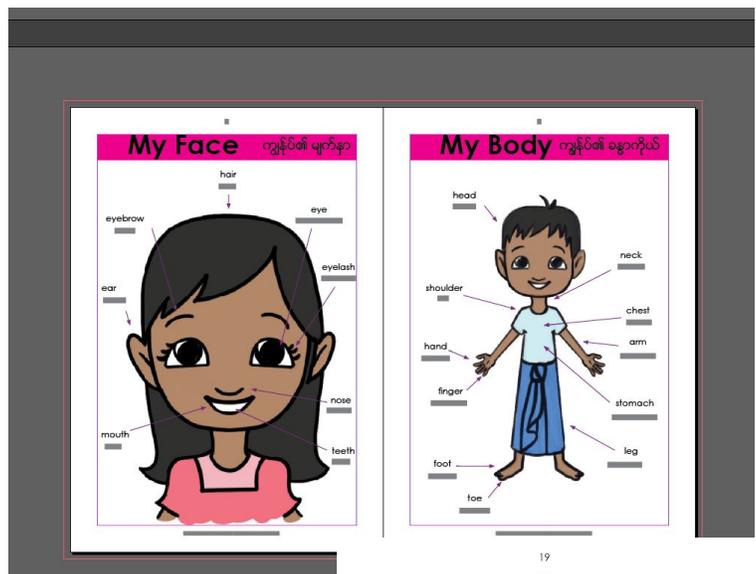

To design a template so I can create the same book but with different cartoons/languages.

For example, next version is Spanish Version

Pictures → Spanish cartoons

Language → English & Spanish language

The pages should have the same design, but I can easily input new pictures / descriptions without individually swapping out each picture and description.

My Family (ကျွန်ုပ်၏ ပိသားစု)

For example:

We already have the Food Page:

All information for the Food Page is in one file, which includes:

- A .csv file with English and Spanish descriptions
- All food pictures for the page

I want to be able to insert this file into a template for the Food Page and have the pictures and corresponding descriptions already inserted.

In short, I want to have a template designed for each category so I can quickly and easily insert new pictures / descriptions. This will help expedite the process of developing new books.
